David Norton was born in New Brunswick, grew up in Prince Edward Island and completed his B.A. and Master of Divinity at Acadia University in Nova Scotia. He has served in pastoral ministry in CBOQ churches and in social service settings that have included emergency shelters, corrections, addictions, public housing and social service ministries in Ontario and Alberta. He comes to Oasis seeking to bring his experience in ministry and social services together with a desire to step into new experiences.

He has a strong desire to see believers not only share the words of the gospel but live the message of the gospel in their communities. He describes Oasis as a place where this happens, where we care for the whole person, spiritually, emotionally and physically.

David values the opportunities to listen to the stories of those he encounters. He enjoys reading, with what he describes as eclectic interests that included mysteries, history, theology and social justice. David and his wife Christine have two sons, James and John.
