Chris was born in Bolivia and at a young age moved to Canada. He has spent the past 23 years living in Toronto. He studied a Diploma of Business Administration at Humber College in 2003. Chris continued his education and received his Bachelor of Commerce from Ryerson University in 2006. His major focus of study was in the field of management and enterprise development as well as communications.

Chris is thankful for the opportunity he had to volunteer at Oasis in 2003. Since that time Chris learned of the many programs Oasis offers the people of the community and feels a passion for the work that goes on at Oasis.

Chris enjoys traveling and adventuring as is evident by his trip down "the most dangerous road in the world" while he was in La Paz, Bolivia in 2004. His future ambitions include graduate studies, writing and perhaps work in the field of international development.
